

The Ancient Oak of Baldor—Visual Story

This is what you will see when you enter the theatre.

You will travel through the archway and see The Ancient Oak Tree.

You will sit under a branch of the tree.

Once the show has started you will be given a shelter to sit under.

The shelter is made from ribbons.

You can play with the ribbons.

You can pull the ribbons down.

If you don't like the shelter we can take it away.

The Ancient Oak of Baldor is a story with words and music set in a forest.

In the show you will meet three characters:

This is Skald, the storyteller.

This is Tonlist, the musician.
Tonlist plays guitar and cello.

This is Elspeth.

The show follows Elspeth's story.

In the show Elspeth will dance.

Sometimes the characters will sing songs.
Sometimes they will play musical instruments.
Sometimes they will dance.
Sometimes they will talk to you.

In the show there are things to touch.

In the show there are things to smell.

In the show there are things to taste.

The show goes through the seasons.

At the start of the show
it is autumn.

After the festival it becomes winter.

We hear Elspeth's story. Elspeth's story is about loving and losing someone.

Elspeth becomes sad and cries.

Next in Elspeth's story we see how she loves nature.

You will experience a storm.

You will meet some bird puppets.

You will see some shadows.

The show ends in spring.
There is a celebration.

In the show you can make noise.

whenever you want to.

At the end we will bow and say goodbye.
